Have you been giving fair and deliberate attention to the importance of soft skills in your courses? Do you buy in to the importance of soft skills? It is significant in wisdom to be a virtuous communicator for operative teaching and learning to happen concurrently. Soft skills are vital for lecturers to allow them to practice different methods to teaching students who are of diverse aptitudes or levels. Soft skills are personal traits that enhance a lecturer's interactions, job performance, and career viewpoints. Soft skills as personality traits, social gracefulness, fluency in language, personal habits, friendliness, and optimism to varying degrees. Soft skills should be adopted as an ordinary feature of a lecturer's selection of community skills and character traits. A good lecturer is expected to be committed to his or her work and to have the ability to take the initiative.
